

NACHER Merges Operations with MISTRAS Group

As many of you are aware, NACHER was acquired by MISTRAS in 2014. We are pleased to announce that we have officially merged operations with our parent company and now operate in name and as part of MISTRAS Group.

This applies to the former NACHER offices and employees in Houma, New Iberia, and Youngsville, LA-USA. These offices will continue to operate in their current forms, with no change in services, management, or business relationships.

This change does not adversely affect your business in any way. All NACHER services will continue to be offered.

In addition to maintenance services, MISTRAS serves as its customers OneSource for Asset Protection Solutions, providing field and laboratory inspections, engineering consulting, inspection products, asset monitoring, and inspection data management software.
